CUWA revisited - BINDER thanks all guests and partners visiting us at the CUWA 2014 in Nanning

For several years now Binder has been participating in the annual CUWA conference, this year in its 9th edition already, held in Nanning city, the capital of Guangxi in Southern China.

Meeting old friends and partners as well as new contacts, this year's participation was a thorough success. The star at the Binder booth was once again the new VACOMASS[®] Jet Control Valve, which drew many a professional in to have a closer look and sparked a multitude of engaging discussions on the advantages of this next generation aeration air control valve for the Chinese wastewater treatment industry.

Also during the CUWA, Binder participated in the 8. Sino-German Water Technology Development Forum, giving a presentation with insights on the "Latest Innovation for Energy Efficient Aeration Air Control Systems".

This presentation can be found in our download-section.

Binder would like to thank all visitors at the booth and during the conference for their professional interest and is looking forward to continue all this communication and development of successful projects for VACOMASS[®] until and throughout the coming year 2015.
